One of the more challenging and difficult tasks for any manager or HR professional is effectively managing employee performance. Effective performance management is an ongoing process which is not only enacted when an issue arises in the workplace.

Left unchallenged or managed badly, poor performance will impact on morale, staff engagement, turnover and ultimately, performance.

Join us for the inaugural HR4Business information session in Colac to glean key tips to effective management of employee performance. There will be also be time to ask questions regarding other areas of Human Resource Management that may be of particular interest to you.
